

THIRTY HURT AT A BALL

Panic Follows Explosion at Hotel in Woodbridge, New Jersey.

FIGHT VIOLENTLY FOR EXIT Dancers in Evening Dress Stumble Through Snow-Storm and Drifts.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Jan. 4.—An explosion wrecked the hotel and hall of Joseph Galanda and more or less seriously injured thirty persons, at Keaney, four miles from here, early yesterday morning.

The St. John's Benevolent Society celebrated its anniversary by a dance, and while the merrymaking was at its height there was a sharp crack, like the report of a large gun, and then a roar. The building shook and lights went out.

People were thrown violently to the floor. There were about five hundred in the hall, and one of the two exits was closed by the wreckage. The people became panic stricken and fought in the darkness to get out. A violent snow storm was raging and the snow had drifted, in places, until it was five feet deep. Many of the women were wearing costumes and all had been dancing, and when the cold air and the flying snow struck them, they were nearly frozen. Some fell in the drifts and had to be helped to nearby houses. Others were trampled by the overzealous in the hall and seriously injured.

Galanda was burned about the head and face. His wife was thrown against the ceiling of the floor and sustained a severe laceration of the scalp. She fell unconscious to the floor. Miss Gertrude Ellos had one eye destroyed, her nose broken and her jaw dislocated. She may not recover. Michael Fonger had his right arm torn from the socket.

FOUND THIRTY INJURED. In the excitement the man that was sent for a physician called at the office of Dr. G. W. Tyrrell and left word that Galanda and his wife had been injured. Galanda and his wife reached his office and started for Keaney by the deep snow over rough roads. It was two hours before he reached the hamlet and found more than thirty people in need of immediate attention.

He turned to his office for supplies, and it was more than six hours after the explosion that he finished dressing the injuries of the victims of the explosion.

It is believed that some one with a grievance against Galanda or the society had planted the bomb. The walls of the building were blown apart and it may collapse at any time. Galanda is so injured that he cannot speak of the occurrence. His building, in which he lived, was completely destroyed. The foot making openings through which people can pass. The floors have fallen and the building will have to be taken down.

Dr. Tyrrell says that more than a score of people have received injuries while dancing there were thrown to the floor, and their heads injured. He says that as many more will suffer from defective hearing.

Dynamite is used in the claybanks in which many of those injured are employed. Detective R. A. Peltier, of the prosecutor's office, is making an investigation.

AT THE THEATRES.

Vaudeville seems to have seen its best days in Richmond. "With 'the varieties' at the Bijou last week, there were any number of empty seats at every performance, though the bill was quite up to the average. The week before, the audience started last night, and the audience that night fell over the balcony, and jammed into the footlights. It was an audience that knew what it was on hand for and did its part to make the performance "go." And "go" it did, from the first curtain until the final scene of the play.

"The Great White Diamond," as a melodrama, is a gem of the first water. The only test by which a play of this kind should be judged is its effect upon an audience. When the spectators become so intensely interested in the actions of those on the stage that they clutch their hands, or gaze open-mouthed, then the drama has served its purpose. One of the "goodies" in the play, a man in danger of losing his life at the point of a dagger, held by the villain, became so wrought up that he entered into the action of the piece by advising the hero, in a loud voice, to "hit the old man with a lead pipe."

The villain himself was a unique character. He had a make-up like Svengali, and was a Nictalos, one who is blind in the light, but can see in the dark. He goes through the play, letting the audience know that his vision is like that of an owl.

There are two sensational scenes in the play. One is the dashing of a fast mail train across the stage, and the other is the original, by the way, for it has been placed in the mail bag and hung up to be caught by the iron arm of the mail car. The train looks quite like the real thing, as it darts past, leaving a trail of smoke and steam behind it. The other scene is gymnastic in its nature, and resembles very much what you see at a circus. The hero is swung head downward from the cliff opposite. This bit of acrobatic work, done in the glare of red light, nearly causes the downfall of the play. Unless the signs fail, the "Great White Diamond" will shed its life upon a crowded house for the remainder of its stay at the Bijou.

B. C. Virginia Harned in "Iris." Charles Frohman will present A. W. Pinero's much talked about, much discussed play, "Iris," with Virginia Harned in the title role, at the Academy of Music to-night and to-morrow night.

This is said to be Mr. Pinero's greatest play, and judging from the common talk it has received since it was produced in New York last season, it has certainly won the approval of the playgoers. As "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," Pinero's earlier work, in the picture of the life of a woman, and tries to slip out of it, "Iris" is a picture of a woman, but weak, is drawn into that life.

"After You." Among the big company which presents the reconstructed musical farce, "Alphonse and Gaston," which comes to the Academy of Music to-night, are the Brothers, who have made a notable success in both musicals; Montgomery and Pearl, who have played in their respective parts, great musical ability.

POWERFUL TESTIMONY

COMING IN DAILY IN PROOF OF CURES MADE BY

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW

PAW-PAW A BLESSING TO ANY FAMILY, SAYS MRS. ALREAD.

I consider Munyon's Paw-Paw not only the best and most reliable of all remedies on earth, but positively a blessing to any family. I speak from personal experience. I was a sufferer, without relief, from the most severe dyspeptic trouble. I was nervous, depressed, despondent and absolutely not against anything. I am now a well woman, thanks to Paw-Paw. I signed MRS. C. ALREAD, 603 E. Main St., Richmond, Va. If you have Catarrh, try it. If you have Dyspepsia, try it. If you are nervous, try it. If you are a sufferer from indigestion, try it. If you are weak and run down, try it. Cast away all tonics, all medicines and all stimulants and let Munyon's Paw-Paw make itself felt. It will lift you from the mud of despair and hold you there. It will give exhilaration without intoxication. It is all that a sufferer needs. Large bottle, $1. Paw-Paw Laxative Pills 50c a bottle.

Watson, who was the big hit of the big musical comedy, "The Defender," Lawrence Cover, the tenor; Jennie Lamont, the most of the best comedienne; Adelaide, and Gretchen Beardsley, who have made hits in the Burlesque and other popular productions, the English Rose, and a big company of four people.

THE JUDGES ARRIVE.

The idea of a legitimate comedy, in which there is not a single suggestive or indecent allusion, drawing in New York for any considerable time, was pronounced by students of the drama to be almost impossible. The phenomenal run of "The Earl of Pawtucket," which will be seen here at the Academy of Music and Saturday, with Saturday matinee.

Judge Harrison Greatly Improved in Health. The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia will convene in this city to-day. Judge John A. Buchanan, who has been absent for two terms of the court owing to illness, will be present. Judge Buchanan is at the Potomac, where they will make their headquarters during the session of the court. The judges are already in the city, so that the full bench will sit the first time in several terms.

HONOR DR. MCGUIRE.

Both Medical Colleges to Suspend for Unveiling. No greater or more sincere honor could have been paid Dr. Hunter McGuire than the decision just reached by the Medical College of Virginia to give him a day for the entire day, that the faculty and students may attend the ceremonies with which the statue to the great surgeon will be unveiled.

Dr. J. Allison Hodges, who succeeded Dr. McGuire as president of the University of Medicine and Surgery, has decided that classes at that institution would be suspended only from 12 M. to 3 P. M. on the day of the unveiling. The students of the old college will attend in a body, but most of them and the faculty will be present. Dr. Hodges is a member of the faculty, and will, by invitation, occupy a seat on the platform as the representative of his long established school.

VETERANS BANQUET

Men Who Followed Picket Discuss Menu in Which "Hard Tack" Does Not Appear.

TO HAVE LADIES' AUXILIARY Money in Treasury, But No One to Exploit for Sick Comrades.

The meeting of Pickett Camp, Confederate Veterans, last night was an event not soon to be forgotten. A movement was set on foot for the reorganization of the ladies' auxiliary, but before this the ladies and the veterans partook of a delightful supper.

Commander Bass presided for the first time since his installation. All of the new officers were at their posts of duty. After a brief business session, at which only routine business was transacted, the veteran followed their guests to the banquet board. Besides the ladies, several members of the General Assembly were present. Among them were Captain C. Featherston, Captain R. E. Lee, Major L. T. Christian and others. At the head of the long "U" shaped table sat Past Commander P. V. Winston. He was selected by his comrades as toastmaster. He called upon Captain Featherston, Captain Lee, Major Christian, Comrade Sullivan and others, all of whom talked well. The idea of having a ladies auxiliary was warmly fostered. In fact, the supper was given as a present to the ladies, and when they were seated together a plan for an auxiliary was announced. The ladies were enthusiastic, and Mrs. C. J. Johnson, wife of the past commander, of that name, spoke, pledging her support. The number of the ladies who would join and who the best for the relief of the sick veterans, members of the camp. Financial aid was pledged by the camp, and all doubt of the organization of the auxiliary removed. A number of members of Pickett Camp are sick and in need. The financial condition of the organization is good, but some one is needed to visit the ill and administer to their needs as only a woman can.

MEETING OF SONS.

Lee Camp Has an Interesting Session and Installs Officers.

Lee Camp, Sons of Veterans, met last night in Lee Camp Hall, Commander J. M. Glenn presiding. The session was devoted to the installation of officers and the transacting of other business. The following officers were installed: President, J. M. Glenn; Vice President, J. M. Glenn; Secretary, J. M. Glenn; Treasurer, J. M. Glenn; and others. The session was a most interesting one, and the officers were installed with much ceremony.

Visible Cotton Supply.

(By Associated Press.) NEW ORLEANS, LA., Jan. 4.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, issued to-day, shows the total to be 3,002,719, against 3,883,832 last week, and 3,883,832 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,883,832, against 3,883,832 last week, and 3,883,832 last year, and all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 64,000, against 60,000 last week and 65,000 last year.

The world's visible supply of cotton there is now about and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 2,024,000, against 1,500,000 last year; in Egypt 214,000, against 180,000 last year; in India 2,000,000, against 2,000,000 last year; in the United States 1,480,000, against 1,613,000 last year.

GATES AND MULLEN ARE SENT TO JAIL

In Default of Payment of Fines in Libel Case, They Go Down.

W. H. Mullen and Sidney Gates were yesterday sent to jail in default of the payment of the $200 each assessed against them in the Hastings Court for criminal libel, growing out of certain publications concerning Superintendent Buchanan, of the Passenger and Power Company, in "The Opinion," of which they were editors during the recent street railway strike here.

The ball bonds of the men expired yesterday with the beginning of the January term of the court, and Judge Witt declined to renew them. The men had applied to His Excellency, the Governor, for pardon, but he had not seen his way clear to grant it, as the case is full of embarrassing complications.

The limit of the term, which Mullen and Gates serve, is three months, though they may be released much sooner upon proof of their bankruptcy. Upon satisfactory information of their insolvency, Judge Witt may free the prisoners in his discretion. Among acquaintances of the men, Young Gates, who, besides being a young man of industry and good reputation, is practically the sole support of his widowed mother.

DOUBLE CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Auditor and Manager of Road Each Says the Other Took Fifty Thousand Dollars.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) MACON, GA., Jan. 4.—E. R. Henderson, auditor of the Macon and Birmingham Railroad, is out on $25,000 bond, charged by General Manager Julian R. Lane with the embezzlement of $50,000. He has in turn entered a charge of embezzlement against Mr. Lane, the amount being the same. A warrant is out for Lane, but he has not been arrested.

The charge against Henderson, his arrest and the countercharge came after the investigation of the company's books by Boston experts. Henderson says that the general manager's personal checks were accumulating to an alarming extent and that Lane ordered him to count these as cash. He alleges that he called for the investigation, thinking the owners of the property should be informed of the conditions. He represents that only yesterday Lane redeemed personal checks for $14,838.

Lane says that this amount is all, and that the other two bills held by Henderson had been redeemed. Henderson having taken them from Lane's desk afterward and embezzled the company's funds to their amount. These alleged cancelled bills raised the shortage to $50,000. The operations have extended over ten years. Lane declares that he had Henderson arrested on the motion of the owners of the road, and that the company's terchange is only an effort to shift the blame.
